The movie watched "The Truman Show" was an experiment with the protagonist, Truman, that he did part of a reality show about your life and your day by day without your own authorization and without that he knew.

This reality show was transmitted since your born, where all comply a script, and only he believes that he is a normal person living his life normally, but after a while, he starts to wonder about the events that constantly appear around him, such as advertisements carried out by people close to you.

With this, he get out of scenery and meets the director of reality show, where they talk and the director raises the question that our lives are being monitored all the time, and we don't even realize how and when.

The film showed me the lack of respect and empathy that many did not have with Truman, giving him the loss of his own privacy to live on a reality show that he didn't even know was on one, people watched him 24 hours a day and they da didn't care how Truman would think if he knew such nonsense. He has had no choice since his birth.
